Not everything is covered

Not everything is covered by the Policy - there are limitations. It is important that you read the Policy carefully to understand the extent of cover and its limitations. For example:

We will not pay weekly benefits for any illness directly or indirectly caused by:

- certain medical conditions including HIV, AIDS and any sexually transmitted disease;
- childbirth, pregnancy or miscarriage;
- a pre-existing illness which you knew about or ought reasonably have known about; or
- your employment.

We will not pay weekly benefits for any injury directly or indirectly caused by:

- training for or participating in professional sport;
- drink driving;
- your use of alcohol or drugs;
- intentional self-injury or suicide; or
- your employment.

Even in instances where this Policy will provide the cover you require, the cover may not be adequate for you because:

- the level of benefits which you have selected are less than what you actually require;
- your claim is made outside the period of insurance;
- the application of a waiting period means that the benefit you receive is less than you expect;
- we will only pay for one injury or illness at any one time.

If you do not comply with the Policy terms and conditions, for example, your duty of disclosure, we can refuse to pay part or all of a claim.

Conditions

You must meet certain conditions for your insurance cover to apply. For example, you must pay the premium. You should read the General Conditions section and make yourself aware of all the conditions that apply by reading the Policy Wording.

Restrictions of cover

Cover in all sections of the Policy are subject to certain restrictions. For example, we only pay weekly benefits for earnings that you have actually lost. You should make yourself aware of all the restrictions on the cover provided by this Policy by reading the Policy Wording.

Waiting Period

You may be prevented from making a claim for a period of time after first suffering an injury or illness. This is called a waiting period. During this time, you are still required to pay a premium. The waiting period is specified in the schedule.

Cost of your Policy

The amount that we charge you for this insurance is called the premium. The premium is the total we calculate when considering all of the factors which make up the risk, such as:

- your age;
- the condition of your health;
- the level of cover you elect;
- details of prior claims, uninsured losses and/or incapacity.

The cost of your policy is made up of your premium plus government taxes such as GST, stamp duty and fire service fees and may also include a fee for the issue of documentation depending on whether or not you purchased your insurance over the internet. The amount of your premium is shown on your policy schedule.

Payment of your premium

You can either pay your premium directly to us or via your employer in one annual premium or in monthly instalments.

If you pay an annual premium and we have not received your premium by the due date or your payment is dishonoured, this Policy will not operate and you will not be covered.

If you pay your premium by instalments and the first payment when taking out the Policy or renewal is not received by us by the due date or the payment is dishonoured, this Policy will not operate and you will not be covered.

If you pay your premium by instalments, and one instalment remains unpaid for:

- 14 days, we may refuse to pay a claim;
- 1 month, we may cancel your Policy.

If you make a claim under this Policy, you must continue to pay your premium and you are responsible for ensuring that your premium continues to be paid. If you do not continue to pay your premium, we may refuse to pay your claim or cancel your Policy.

For more detailed information regarding payment of your premium refer to the 'Paying your Premium Directly to Us' section.

Product Disclosure Statement (cont'd)

GST

If you are not registered for GST, in the event of a claim we will reimburse you the GST component in addition to the amount that we pay. The amount that we are liable to pay under this policy will be reduced by the amount of any input tax credit that you are or may be entitled to claim for the supply of goods or services covered by that payment.

If you are entitled to an input tax credit for the premium you have paid, you must inform us of the extent of that entitlement at or before the time you make a claim under this policy. We will not indemnify you for any GST liability, fines or penalties that arise from or are attributable to your failure to notify us of your entitlement (or correct entitlement) to an input tax credit on the premium. If you are liable to pay an excess under this policy, the amount payable will be calculated after deduction of any input tax credit that you are or may be entitled to claim on payment of the excess. If you are unsure about the taxation implications of this policy, you should seek advice from your accountant or tax professional.

Cooling off period

There is a 21 day cooling off period. If you are not completely satisfied with your Policy you can cancel it by contacting us in writing within 21 days of the date of issue of your Policy. We will refund your premium less any non refundable government charges and taxes that we have paid. You do not have a right to cancel your Policy if you make a claim for any incident within the 21 day period. For cancellation rights after the 21 day period, please read the "Paying Your Premium Directly To Us" section.

Duty of disclosure

Whether you are entering into a policy for the first time or are proposing to renew, vary, extend or reinstate a policy you have a duty of disclosure.

Your duty of disclosure for new policies

When answering our questions you must be honest and you have a duty under law to tell us anything known to you, and which a reasonable person in the circumstances, would include in the answer to the question. We will use the answers in deciding whether to insure you and anyone else to be insured under the policy, and on what terms.

Your duty of disclosure for renewals

If you have already entered into a policy and you are proposing to renew, vary, extend or reinstate the policy, your duty of disclosure changes. You have a duty to tell us of everything that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, that is relevant to our decision to insure you and to the terms of that insurance. If you are not sure whether something is relevant you should inform us anyway.

Who needs to tell us?

It is important that you understand you are answering our questions in this way for yourself and anyone else that you want to be covered by the policy.

What you are not required to disclose

Your duty does not require disclosure of matters that:

- reduce the risk;
- are common knowledge;
- we know or, in the ordinary course of our business, ought to know; and
- we have indicated we do not want to know.

If you do not tell us

If you do not answer our questions in this way or disclose everything you know, we may reduce or refuse to pay a claim, or cancel the policy. If you answer our questions fraudulently, we may refuse to pay a claim and treat this policy as never having been in force.
